Quick Compare™, Life Safety Code® 2000 & 2012 for Health Care By National Fire Protection Association

See how health care facility requirements in the 2012 Life Safety Code® differ from those in the 2000 Life Safety Code, and how the latest provisions will impact facility compliance and renovations in the future. Quick Compare™, Life Safety Code 2000 & 2012 for Health Care: NFPA 101® Changes Affecting Your Facility gives you an early, in-depth understanding of the changes in order to plan projects, budget appropriately, and prepare compliance plans. Quick Compare explains the most significant changes impacting health care across four editions of the Code! This guide includes: Comparisons featuring full Code text for both the 2012 NFPA 101 and 2000 NFPA 101 chapters for new and existing health care occupancies (Chapters 18 and 19), new and existing ambulatory health care occupancies (Chapters 20 and 21), and new and existing residential board and care facilities (Chapters 32 and 33) - Brief descriptions explaining the scope of major differences - See what is new, revised, or the same between the two editions. Quick Compare gives facility managers, providers, consultants, engineers, architects, surveyors, and AHJs a fast, accessible source for information about the specific Code changes relevant to health care. AHJs and surveyors for CMS and The Joint Commission will have the information required to properly enforce new provisions and assess waivers. (Spiralbound, 400 pp., 2013).
