A Railroad for the Southern End...Pictures, Timetables, Rare Documents and all the News of the Little, Old & Slow. Pennsylvania's First Narrow Gauge Railroad. By Mike Roth & Stanley T. White

"A Railroad for the Southern End...Pictures, Timetables, Rare Documents and all the News of the Little, Old & Slow ....Pennsylvania's First Narrow Gauge Railroad" The most complete history of the Lancaster, Oxford and Southern Railroad written to date, as it was written by those who lived it. (Peach Bottom Railroad, Peach Bottom Railway and Lancaster Oxford and Southern Railway) 481 pages and around 400 color and B&W photos and timetables. Many of the photos haven't ever been seen by anyone outside of the families who discovered them in the past few years. There are around 1500 newspaper articles from 1860 to 1923 included here and two chapters written by the authors. Each book individually shrink wrapped. If you live in Southern Lancaster or Southern Chester Counties (Oxford) you may be surprised what the area used to look like. Many families from this area are mentioned as well so it's a great genealogical resource as well as a historical retrospective. Several family and station names...Bradley, Stubbs, Hall, Gatchall, Hambleton, Hood, Oxford, Hoyt, Westbrook, Quarryville, Kings Bridge, King, Magee, Riuddle. Eldora, Arcadia, Rigby, Dickey, Boyd, Bond, Ainey, Abbott, Peach Bottom, Fritz, Brown, Fulton, Swift, Todd, Wintersteen, Wohlsen, Spruce Grove, etc "Lovingly produced and fully indexed, this handsome book brings to light every known nugget of information the authors could find on the LO&S and it makes a fine companion to Ben Kline's long out-of-print treatise on the road.---Walt Lankenau, Railfan & Railroad Magazine, November 2013 "A lavishly illustrated and researched book.....it has decorative endpapers, high quality coated paper and numerous illustrations, many in color"...Daily Local News, Chester County PA, August 2013
